

Contents

Editors' introduction.....	7
Acknowledgments.....	11
From foundation to closure: 1920–1939	13
František Chudoba, the Anglický seminář and King's College London	13
Samuel Kostomlatský and English-language teaching	18
Chudoba as academic and populariser	19
The students	23
Lecturers from England	24
Interlude: The War and its aftermath	29
Chudoba's effects.....	29
Post-war and post-coup: 1945–1977
Re-opening after the war	31
Post-1948	33
Josef Vachek	34
Karel Štěpaník.....	36
The 1960s and 1970s	37
New ventures in the 1960s	39
The student world	42
Pomnědi and other students.....	44
Surviving normalization: 1977 through the 1980s	45
Joining the English Department.....	45
The teachers	47
Students and studies	55
Teaching.....	57
Extras	59
The end of the eighties	62
Into a new world: November 1989 and the 1990s	65
First term as head of department.....	68
Ota Kříž as head	75
Single English, Act II	76
The Hladký affair.....	77
Department head redux	78
Final considerations	81
Coda	83

The Gypsywood Players	85
Bibliography	119
Illustration credits	119
Index	121